

Ergonomic improvement of Batasha Making process

Batasha is a sweet dish prepared from sugar. It is mainly used in festivals, worships and marriages in India. It was found that traditional batasha making process shown in the figure below is tiring (due to squatting sitting posture of artisan) and unhygienic. Hence, there is a need to improve it ergonomically.

